TEL AVIV (AP) — Israel, in one of its strongest blasts at the United States, has rejected U.S. proposals for a Middle East peace agreement, calling them "appeasement of the Arabs" which "seriously prejudice prospects for peace."

On the battlefield, Israeli commandos struck into Egypt again Monday night to mortar an Egyptian naval base on the Red Sea coast, the Israeli command said. It was the second raid on an Egyptian military installation in five days.

Relations between Israel and the United States, home of the Jewish nation's chief financial backers, were at their lowest point in years.

A communique issued after a special session Monday of Premier Golda Meir's Cabinet said the American proposals for peace between Israel and Jordan and between Israel and Egypt contain nothing obliging the Arabs to end hostilities and would encourage Arab hostility.

The statement said Israel "views with concern the disquieting initiatives of the United States at the four power talks" on the Middle East which the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France have been holding in New York and Washington. The Cabinet said Israel will not be the victim of power politics and will reject any attempt to impose a settlement on it.

Mrs. Meir, in an interview with the New York Times after the cabinet session, said the U.S. government was asking Israel "to start all over again, as though it were 1948."

"I don't think it's Washington's intention," Mrs. Meir said, "but each new proposal only encourages the Arabs to increase their military activity across the borders."

Safety Council Says 800-920 Facing Death

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Safety Council estimated today that 800 to 920 persons may be killed in traffic accidents over the Christmas week-end. It urged caution and moderation in holiday drinking.

"Ideally, if you are going to drive, it would be better if you didn't drink at all," Howard Pyle, council president, advised.

"But if you do imbibe, do so in such a manner that your coordination, eyesight, and common sense will not be impaired so that you can safely cope with the high hazards of this holiday such as unusually heavy traffic, poor weather conditions, and early darkness," Pyle added.

To stay unimpaired by alcohol, a persons should allow an hour to pass for each average drink, Pyle suggested. An average drink would be one containing an ounce of whiskey, gin, etc., or a 12-ounce serving of beer, he said.

The period covered by the council's estimate will extend from 6 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 24, to midnight Sunday, Dec. 28. During the Thanksgiving weekend, containing the same number of days, there were 686 traffic deaths.

Marine Leaders Hail Corps Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Marine leaders are welcoming planned reductions in the size of the corps as an opportunity to improve the quality of their traditionally "gung ho" branch of the armed services.

"With a smaller force you can be selective in who you take in and who you keep," one general said.

Marine planners believe a force of about 200,000 men would enable them to operate three divisions and supporting aircraft wings in a high state of readiness.

The Marines had 190,000 men in the summer of 1965 when the United States launched its big military buildup for Vietnam.

The corps reached a Vietnam peak of nearly 315,000 last March.

Since then, as President Nixon has pulled some forces out of Vietnam, the administration has moved to trim Marine strength by 20,300 men before June 30.

The new defense budget probably will provide for a further Marine manpower cut of 30,000-40,000 men.

That would bring the corps down to about 254,000 by mid-1971. At this rate, the hoped for floor of about 200,000 would be reached in 1972.

The Marines consider themselves an elite group composed of almost all volunteers.

However, the Vietnam war requirements forced the Marines to turn to the draft in 1965 for the first time in 13 years.

Governor Taking Out His Share Of Retirement Fund

LANSING (AP) — Michigan Gov. William G. Milliken has withdrawn the $6,156.15 which had accumulated in his state retirement fund when he was a state senator.

Aides said he acted to avoid a conflict of interest in the event the Legislature should adopt a bill raising pensions for legislators.

At retirement Milliken would have drawn at least $3,900 a year because of his eight years as a senator.

Milliken, now 47, would have been eligible for the pension in 13 years.

Segregated Schools In North, West Hit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top officials of the Nixon administration agree with the southern complaint that federal law deals too lightly with racially segregated schools in the North and West.

The government has done little about northern school segregation, officials say, for two main reasons: lack of judicial mandate from the Supreme Court and active discouragement by Congress.

"It has become clear to me that the old bugaboo of keeping federal hands off northern school systems because they are only de facto segregated, instead of de jure segregated as the result of some official act, is a fraud," said Leon E. Panetta, director of the Office for Civil Rights in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

De facto is the term applied to school segregation resulting solely from residential patterns. De jure is the description for segregation decreed by law or formal custom, such as state-established dual school systems in the South.

"There are few if any pure de facto situations," Panetta said. "Lift the rock of de facto, and all too frequently something ugly and discriminatory crawls out from under it."

"Sure, racial housing patterns may coincide with school attendance patterns by race. But which came first and how was the school boundary drawn?" Panetta asked.

And HEW Secretary Robert H. Finch said recently Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., has a "valid point" in his argument that federal law appears to condemn school segregation in the South but condone it in the North and West.

"The Supreme Court has chosen only to come down on de jure segregation where it is clear cut," Finch said. "That is dual systems where state law required it."

"The Supreme Court would have to say that de facto segregation is illegal before government agencies can act," he said. "And I don't expect that will happen soon."

The high court has never agreed to hear a case involving de facto school segregation.

Further, Congress discouraged government action against de facto segregation by saying in 1965 no steps could be required to correct "racial imbalance" in schools free from official discrimination.

Panetta referred to this as letting the North "off the hook."

But he denied the government has one set of rules for the North and another for the South.

Manson Insists He Defends Self

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Charles M. Manson insists he wants to defend himself from charges of murdering actress Sharon Tate and six others, declaring he can do it better than any lawyer.

The long-haired, bearded cult leader, in purple shirt and gold trousers, spent 30 minutes Monday trying to convince Superior Court Judge William B. Keene he should be permitted to act as his own counsel.

The judge, apparently unconvinced, postponed his decision until Wednesday. Meanwhile, Keene said, he would appoint a lawyer to advise Manson.

Manson, 35, agreed, saying: "I don't want to fight with the judge. I believe he's sincere."

The cult leader and four followers are accused of the Tate killings Aug. 8, and the same five plus a girl cultist are charged with killing a Los Angeles market owner and his wife the following night.

Two of Manson's codefendants also made brief appearances before Keene.

Leslie Van Houten, 19, who is accused of murder in only the knife slayings of Mr. and Mrs. Leno LaBianca the night after the Tate killings, pleaded innocent. Her trial was set for Feb. 9.

Linda Kasabian, 20, charged in both sets of slayings, sat silent while her lawyer was granted a delay until Jan. 6 in entering her plea. The lawyer said he needed more time to study the grand jury indictment.

Tax Reform Measure Awaits Nixon's OK

Senate Passes Reform Bill By Margin Of 71-6

WASHINGTON (AP) — The last serious barriers to congressional adjournment today were cleared away with passage of the massive tax reform bill and Senate surrender on President Nixon's plan to open up more construction jobs to blacks.

With these matters taken care of Monday, the House marked time before today's expected mid-afternoon adjournment, while the Senate faced its last bit of routine business—extending regulations governing trade with some Communist nations.

The major congressional handiwork of 1969, the giant tax cut and reform bill, already is on its way to the White House and a top Senate Republican said there is no doubt President Nixon will sign it into law.

The tax bill swept through the Senate Monday, 71-6, after clearing the House 381-2. Ultimately, it will provide $9.1 billion in tax cuts, offset by $6.5 billion in revenue to be raised by the reform provisions.

But a lesser measure, a normally routine $278 million appropriation bill for an assortment of federal agencies, produced a civil rights controversy which kept the Senate working late Monday amid maneuver and controversy.

At issue was congressional clearance of the administration's Philadelphia plan designed to promote employment of Negroes on federally-financed construction projects.

A Senate amendment tacked on to the catch-all appropriation bill would have barred continuation of that program; Nixon termed it unconstitutional and threatened a veto.

The House voted 208-156 to strike the amendment from the bill, and the Senate, weary and ready to quit, finally yielded, too.

The roll call vote was 39-29 to go along with the House and clear the way for a Christmas holiday.

Jailed For 34 Years, Man Asks $115,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — Stephen Dennison, now 60 and gray-haired, appealed today to the Supreme Court for $115,000 for the 34 years he spent in prison for stealing $5 worth of chocolate bars and marshmallows.

Through attorneys, the unemployed Glens Falls, N.Y., janitor said the money, once awarded him by a claims court, would be partial compensation for "the lifetime he could never enjoy."

The award was set aside by New York appeals courts on the grounds Dennison, classified by reformatory officials as a "low-grade moron," could not hold the state liable even if state doctors were wrong in ruling him mentally defective.

As a boy of 16, Dennison was arrested for stealing the candy from a roadside stand in his hometown, Salem, N.Y. He was given a suspended sentence and placed on probation. When he did not report monthly to a minister he was sent to the Elmira reformatory.

There officials decided—Dennison's attorneys later called it a "tragic mistake"—he was mentally deficient. He was transferred to an institution for male defective delinquents at Naponach, N.Y., and later to the Dannemora State Hospital.

In 1960, after 34 years in state institutions, he was released through the efforts of a brother, George, who was convinced he was sane.

Sentence Too Severe

The biggest sentence Dennison could have received for the $5 theft was 10 years. His lawyers contended the additional 24 years were imposed unconstitutionally.

Agnew Prepares For Asian Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's 10-nation, 37,000-mile trip includes stops in three countries—the Philippines, Thailand and Formosa—that have been targets of recent attacks in the Senate.

Agnew also has expressed hope of going to Vietnam, although it is not listed on the itinerary and aides said no visit is planned. The trip, Agnew's first abroad as vice president, is designed to give him first-hand knowledge of Asia.

The vice president will be meeting with top officials of the nations he visits and is likely to run into reaction to Senate attacks on military aid to some Asian nations.

In the Philippines, where Agnew is to attend the Dec. 30 inauguration of President Ferdinand E. Marcos, there was strong criticism of a charge by Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., that the United States had paid the Manila government $45 million in equipment and allowances in return for sending troops to Vietnam.

The Philippine government denied the charge, contained in a transcript which was held up by the State Department here until after the country's elections last month. Since then, the Philippine detachment in Vietnam has been withdrawn.

Formosa, Agnew's next stop, was the target of the Senate just last week when it rejected the $1.8 billion foreign aid money bill rather than agree to supply the government of Chiang Kai-shek some $54.5 million to buy additional jet fighters.

From Taipei, Agnew is scheduled to go to Thailand.

The defense showed the jury some 20 other photographs Monday. The pictures were taken by Hall and Paul Sequeira, a photographer for the Chicago Daily News.

Sequeira testified about the scenes he saw in Lincoln Park during the week of the convention in August 1968.

Hall was called for testimony about the confrontation between police and antiwar demonstrators near the Conrad Hilton Hotel the night of Aug. 29, 1968.

Hall said he was perched atop a spotlight and witnessed two squads of police close in on a crowd at the intersection of Michigan Avenue and Balbo Drive.

"The police came down Balbo, swinging their clubs at the crowd. The crowd started to run," Hall said. "Then I saw a line of police blocking the street (Michigan Avenue) and move toward the crowd swinging their clubs."

Hall also said he saw a policeman club a crippled man and several youths later that night.

Hall said the incident of the woman falling occurred after police in three-wheeled motorcycles drove toward a group of demonstrators and forced them to jump on a railing at the top of the garage ramp.

HELL, Mich. (AP) — An explosion destroyed a vacation cottage Monday at Half Moon Lake, damaging about a dozen nearby cottages in the process.

The Washtenaw County sheriff's department attributed the explosion to gas leakage. Windows were broken within a quarter-mile radius and nearby trees were strung with clothing and other articles belonging to the Edward Rice family. The family was not at its cottage and no injuries were reported.

Sheriff's deputies said the explosion was heard in Hell, about a mile to the north.

11 Killed, 14 Hurt As Disabled Jet Wrecks Hangar

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A disabled, pilotless Navy jet fighter "could not have hit a worse place" the fire chief said mournfully as he surveyed the naval hangar where 11 men were killed and 14 injured.

The jet, abandoned by its pilot who parachuted to safety after reported oil pressure trouble, slammed into a hangar full of aircraft and mechanics Monday at Miramar Naval Air Station.

The pilot of the single-seat F4J Crusader said he reported the malfunction, then ejected at 400 feet altitude about a half mile east of the runway.

The pilot, Lt. Cyrus M. Riddell, 27, of San Diego and Bellevue, Wash., was injured.

Asked if he could have prevented the plane from hitting the hangar, he said: "I can't answer that," and walked away.

A Navy spokesman said Riddell and persons inside the hangar could not talk to newsmen because they would be testifying before an investigation board.

Pictures Used As Trial Clues

CHICAGO (AP) — The jury in the trial of seven men charged with conspiracy to incite rioting at the time of the 1968 Democratic National Convention has spent much of its time in court lately viewing photographs.

Judge Julius J. Hoffman of U.S. District Court is weighing a ruling on still another photograph, a slide which the defense wants admitted as evidence. The slide shows a woman falling from a railing 15 feet to a garage ramp.

Duane Hall, a photographer for the Chicago Sun Times, testified Monday that he took the picture and that the woman was shoved by police.

Hall, however, did not actually see any policeman strike the woman, and the government contends the slide is inadmissible.

The defense showed the jury some 20 other photographs Monday. The pictures were taken by Hall and Paul Sequeira, a photographer for the Chicago Daily News.

Sequeira testified about the scenes he saw in Lincoln Park during the week of the convention in August 1968.

Hall was called for testimony about the confrontation between police and antiwar demonstrators near the Conrad Hilton Hotel the night of Aug. 29, 1968.

Controversial F111 Grounded Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — The controversial F111 military airplane has been grounded for the fifth time in less than two years in the wake of a Nevada training crash which killed two pilots.

The Air Force announced Monday it has grounded its fleet of 223 swingwing jets until it determines what caused the crash that killed Lt. Col. Thomas J. Mack and Maj. James L. Anthony.

Mack, 38, of Viola, Ill., and Anthony, 35, of Big Spring, Tex., went down with the $8 million plane Monday during a training mission at the bombing and gunnery range at Nellis Air Force Base, about 45 miles northwest of Las Vegas, Nev.

After Air Force problems with the F111, a contract for a Navy version was canceled last year and a contract for an Air Force bomber version was sharply curtailed.

Jury Awards $52,000 Due To Malpractice

DETROIT (AP) — A Wayne County jury has awarded $52,000 in a medical malpractice suit to the family of a woman who died in 1962 from a cerebral hemorrhage.

After four days of deliberation, the jury Monday returned the judgment in behalf of Zolzie Burton of Detroit and the estate of his late wife, Mary Eva Burton.

She was 48 when she died. The jury held the City of Highland Park, owner of Highland Park General, and Dr. Ram Borgaonkar, an intern at the hospital in 1962, as liable. The doctor now resides in Canada. The suit claimed negligence in diagnosing and treating of Mrs. Burton.

The jury found there was no cause for action against a second doctor. Minor settlements were previously reached with two doctors and a complaint against a nurse was dismissed during the trial by the judge.

Fiat Motor Co. Recalling Autos

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Fiat Motor Co. agreed Monday to recall its 1969 Model 850 Fiat coupes equipped with defective steering columns, the Department of Transportation announced.

The steering columns on the estimated 9,000 Fias will be replaced with a recently developed three-segment column the company claims will meet safety standards, the department said.

The recall was announced after the vehicle failed to pass safety standards calling for rearward displacement of the steering column of not more than five inches in a 30 mile per hour collision test.

Fiat initiated a recall campaign for about 3,600 of its 1968 model 850 autos for similar non-compliance with steering column safety standards. Federal officials said Fiat could not immediately set a timetable for issuance of defect notification letters because of current labor disputes and production problems.

Police Angered Over Ruling On Wearing Flag

MUSKEGON HEIGHTS (AP) — Police Chief James J. Farkas has declared war on the Defense Department for ruling that small American flag pins worn on the lapels of police uniforms are "not proper or desirable."

"If demonstrators can stand on the streets of the capital and wave the Viet Cong flag without penalty, then it's going to take the Army to get those flag patches off the uniforms of Muskegon Heights police," vowed Farkas.

Police officers here began wearing the red, white and blue patches on their uniforms last October. Other public departments around the nation also sport American flag pins and patches.

Police Chief Jacob Schott of Cincinnati, Ohio, asked the White House for an opinion after a controversy flared in his city. Many policemen in Cincinnati were wearing the small flag pin and there were objections to it.

Chief Schott's letter was referred to the Department of Defense and a spokesman there wrote that the military is not permitted to wear such emblems. Since police departments are semimilitary organizations they should not display the American flag on their uniforms, Chief Schott said the letter concluded.

Chief Farkas, however, questions the ruling. He noted that astronaut Neil Armstrong, a civilian, wore an American flag on his uniform.

Marines Bring Toys For Hannahville Tots

The U.S. Marines played the role of Santa Claus Monday when they arrived flying Brig. General Robert Keller's Marine aircraft full of Christmas toys.

The occasion was the fifth annual visit of the "Toys For Tots" campaign directed by the Marine Air Reserve Training Detachment at the Glenview, Ill., Naval Air Station, in co-operation with the McDonald hamburger people of the Chicago area.

About a dozen boxes of toys, plus candy, cookies and other assorted goodies were delivered to the Escanaba Municipal Airport for some 65 children in the Hannahville Indian Community.

Chicago Collection

Toys were collected in the Chicago area for distribution at Christmas to the Hannahville children and children of the Chicago area who might not have received a visit from Santa Claus this year.

The effort was directed by Capt. G. C. Kirkland and Sgt. R. L. Singleton. Singleton said some 3,000 families will end up benefiting from this year's campaign. He said the Marines also delivered several truckloads of toys to children's institutions in the Chicago area for distribution at Christmas.

The pilot of Monday's "Toys For Tots" flight was Lt. Col. Fred Anthony. He said that the Marines had brought enough toys for 100 children. The flight delivered about 400 toys for the Hannahville kids.

According to Billy Bolin, field representative for the U.S. Bureau for Indian Affairs, the toys will be distributed to the children Tuesday and Wednesday by a committee from the Hannahville Tribal Council.

Arrangements for the delivery of toys was made by Bolin and Bill Haliburton, employment assistant for the Bureau of Indian Affairs. The Marines did the advertising, pick-up and delivery.

The toys were officially accepted by the tribal council chairman, along with several Hannahville residents. The toys were unloaded by the Marines

Briefly Told

The City of Escanaba's garbage pick-up will be one day later than usual because of the Christmas and New Year's holidays, the public works department reports.

The theft of 110 feet of copper wire valued at $90 and an electric drill valued at $85 from the senior citizens' high rise apartment building project is being investigated by city police. The report of the thefts was received on Monday.

Three persons received bruises in a traffic accident in the 26000 block, Ludington St., at 8:25 p.m. Monday, it is reported by city police. Injured slightly were Kenneth J. Robitaille, 18, of 629 N. 18th St., driver of one of the cars; and Rodney J. DeGrand, 16, 3001 Lake Shore Drive, driver, and Duane Beauchamp, 17, 2128 S. 25th St., passenger in the other car. Police ticketed Robitaille for failing to yield the right of way.

UMTA Sees Challenge, Opportunity For U.P.

The decade of the 70s beckons as a challenge and an opportunity to the Upper Michigan Tourist Association and to the people of the Peninsula, members of the UMTA executive committee were told by Kenneth Dorman, secretary-manager, at a meeting in Marquette.

"We have gone through a 10-year period that began in distrust, divided support and misgivings about the program and some of the personnel. We are ending on a strong note. The Upper Michigan Tourist Association has never been stronger, no better prepared to play its proper role in the Peninsula than now."

Strong Challenge
"Gov. William Milliken has thrown out a strong challenge with his 10-point program. As we look to the 70s we should realize we can go as far as we really want to go."

"We do need to tell more about what we are doing; the great support we need is a deeper realization of the all-inclusive Peninsula interest and concern we mutually share."

Discussing some of the decisions the association must make, he said, "If we cannot defend our efforts we are in serious trouble. We must take chances on publicity possibilities. But if we have made proper studies and determined reasonable roles we should be playing in the Peninsula then we can stand on our decisions. Forests and Tourists
"Another thing we should realize is that the growth pattern of the country applies to us. It isn't something way out there someplace. It is here, and the sooner we realize it the greater we will participate and share in the growth pattern steadily emerging.

"There has been a sharp interest in forest products and in forest development. There is a natural association between forest use and tourist business. We should be seeking ways to make this association more realistic."

Dorman pointed out to his executive committee that it is impossible to be all places at all times, and the personnel must determine, almost weekly, where its best efforts can be spent. There are often instances where requests for association assistance are not justified, he said.

Need Outside Cash
"However, over a five-year program I am sure that we spread our interests and our concerns quite evenly over the 15-county area of the Upper Peninsula," he added.

Dorman stressed the need for bringing in outsiders. "Here is where the extra money is." The executive committee decided to continue some of its public relations programs and to concentrate on seven travel shows where personnel can be used to best advantage, without turning away from volunteer assistance.

Trappers Miss Out On Fox Pelt Cash

By KENNETH S. LOWE
AU TRAIN — Trappers and hunters in the Upper Peninsula are passing up some ready spending money by failing to cash in on red fox pelts.

Dick Perry, veteran fur buyer here, says foxes are now abundant in the Upper Peninsula and their pelts bring more than the state used to pay for fox bounties, but few are taking advantage of the market.

Perry has bought 1,250 fox hides since Nov. 1, but only 250 of them came from the Upper Peninsula. The rest were purchased from downstate trappers.

"The fox is a big item in the Lower Peninsula, but not up here," Perry said. "On rare occasions some Upper Peninsula trapper will go after fox pretty heavy, like a fellow in Copper City who had 25 fox hides this fall. But down below it's not unusual to find a trapper with 75 to 100 fox pelts."

Up To $8 Paid

Perry said he and his brother, Loren, also of Au Train, pay up to $8 for a top grade fox pelt. That's $3 more than the state used to pay for foxes before the bounty was removed a few years ago.

Thirty years ago or more, fox pelts brought around $15, but then they declined in value until they became almost worthless. For the past five or six years, however, fox prices "have been hanging on good," Perry said.

Fox pelts begin coming into prime as early as mid-October, reach top quality around Nov. 1 and maintain it through December. Then they start to lose their color and by March they often are faded and wooly, tending to decline in market value.

Raccoons Neglected

Raccoons also are neglected furbearers in the Upper Peninsula, Perry said. Since the raccoon trapping season opened Oct. 25, Perry has purchased only about 450 'coon hides in the Upper Peninsula, although the hides bring $3 to $4 when they are merely skinned without being fleshed or stretched. If the trapper is willing to take the time to flesh and stretch his raccoon hides, they will bring about $1 more apiece.

The raccoon trapping season ends Dec. 31, but for all practical purposes most fur trapping in the Upper Peninsula ends by mid-December, Perry said. Foxes, however, may be trapped year around, and he is surprised that more Upper Peninsula outdoorsmen don't run winter traplines for foxes.

Manistique Views More Street Work

MANISTIQUE—A continuation of the street improvement program was announced by City Council Monday night.

City Manager Robert Noe stressed that the improvements centered around many "ifs": if an engineering study proves certain repairs would be worthwhile, if the cost is reasonable, if the city can float bonds for the project, if financing is available, etc.

Some improvements call for blacktopping which, Noe said, would involve a bituminous capping of the streets while sealcoating, a temporary fill, involves a graveled tar coating.

Financing for capping would be by bonding, which the city may do under provisions of the State Vehicle Motor bonding act. Sealcoating expense would come from local revenues. Curb and gutter improvements would be assessed to individual property owners.

Included in the partial list, but not necessarily listed in order of importance, were the following streets:

N. Houghton Ave., from the railroad tracks to center street, blacktopping and curb and gutter;

Arbutus Ave., from U. S. 2 to Range St., capping, and from Steuben to Cattaraugus Streets, capping, curb and gutter;

Oak St., from Range to Potter St., blacktopping, curb and gutter where needed;

Cedar St., from E. Elk north to Pine St., blacktopping, curb and gutter;

Pearl St., from Main to Arbutus, blacktopping, curb and gutter where needed;

Cattaraugus, from Cherry to Park, double sealcoat;

Garden Ave., from Range to U. S. 2 east, sealcoat;

Mackinac Ave., from Wolf to Elk, capping, curb and gutter;

Schoolcraft Ave., from Otter to Elk, capping, curb and gutter; one block of Otter, between U. S. 2 and Schoolcraft Ave., capping.

Many more streets are being considered for improvement.

Noe added, and the city also is considering blacktopping of downtown alleyways and assessing owners for the project.

Fire Meeting Set
At the request of County Board Commission Chairman Lindsay Frenette, Council agreed to meet Dec. 30 at the City Hall with county and township officials to work out an agreeable fire protection pact.

Harbor Project To Be Delayed

MANISTIQUE — There was a lot of spirit but not much cheer when Council discussed the status of the harbor improvement program Monday night.

"Our plans probably are set back one year," Councilman A. J. Cayia Jr. said, referring to an engineering report that piles can't be driven into the harbor floor. The Water Resources Commission, through director Keith Wilson, insisted, over the objections of Council, that piles could be driven in the harbor floor and the city spent $3,000 attempting to drive test pilings.

Some of this money will be reimbursed through the state.

Since the engineering report was received two weeks ago, Wilson has been unavailable for comment although Mayor Leo DeMars has attempted several times to contact him, DeMars said.

Now the city must revise its plans for the proposed $250,000 harbor program and probably will go back to a bin-wall construction which was favored originally.

tracted fire protection agreement the city is seeking from each township. The townships have an extended deadline of Jan. 5 to negotiate a contract with the city.

Noe said that both Manistique and Hiawatha Townships have agreed to contracted service with the stipulation the city fire truck be used as a backup unit for their own volunteer fire departments. Manistique Township would pay $630 per year and Hiawatha Township $1,600.

The city has indicated it would consider servicing the outlying area on a per call charge basis, if acceptable to the townships.

Grants Awarded

A letter from the Water Control Pollution Federation advised that two city wastewater plant employees have been awarded grants for a one-week course on wastewater treatment plant operation and pollution control. Noe said Ernest Derwin Jr. and Edward J. Doyle would attend classes at Gull Lake in February.

Derwin received $115 and Doyle $160 under the grant release.

In other business, Council agreed to pay a $20 per hour legal service fee to acting city attorney Robert Berger; instructed the city manager to inform Mr. and Mrs. John Herro that a blocked alley access behind their restaurant was a private matter they should attempt to settle with the property owner who erected the blockade; agreed with three suggestions by Councilman A. J. Cayia Jr. that 1, the city consider constructing sidewalks where none exist; 2, study the feasibility of planting trees in newly developed areas, such as New Delta Ave., but assess residents for such costs; and 3, inaugurate a policy on street lighting since some long blocks in the city are black in the middle of the block; and agreed to a one-year dance permit with Bands Unlimited, Inc., of Escanaba, for dances in the Eat Shop Ballroom.

Letters from Escanaba Mayor Cecil B. Chase and City Manager George Harvey expressed the City of Escanaba's commendation on Manistique's two recently - dedicated buildings, the new City Hall and Harbor View Towers.

American Families Hurt By Inflation

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Most American families believe they are being hurt by inflation, according to the University of Michigan's Survey Research Center (SRC).

How much they feel they have been hurt depends largely on their income bracket, the center found in its latest national consumer survey.

More than half of American family heads surveyed expressed the opinion that they were hurt a little by inflation, the survey disclosed, with the lower the income, the greater the perceived damage.

Nearly two-thirds of the respondents expect prices of things they buy to rise by less than five per cent in the next 12 months.

SRC economists concluded that other worries apparently were of comparable if not greater magnitude than inflation. These include Vietnam, high taxes, unemployment, race relations and the possibility of a recession.

The inflation data were collected for the American Broadcasting Company and were included in the center's fourth quarter 1969 survey.

Interviewers were asked three questions about the potential damage caused by inflation:

—What kind of people, would you say, are hurt most by inflation?

—What kind of people are hurt least, or not at all, by inflation?

—Would you say that you and your family were hurt by inflation very much, a little, or not at all?

Two-thirds of the respondents to the first question thought that poor people or old and retired people are hurt most. Answers to the second question indicated that well-to-do people or those with high incomes were thought to be hurt least.

Some 40 per cent of the low-income people felt that they were hurt much or very much by inflation, the survey showed, while among families with more than $10,000 income, 16 per cent said they were not hurt at all.

The survey also indicated most people are not willing to make a personal sacrifice to help slow down inflation, although a majority agreed that consumers as well as the government should spend less than at present.

Marine General Seeks Clearer Massacre Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Marine general who once commanded all U.S. forces in the My Lai area of Vietnam has appeared before a military panel trying to determine if the Army's initial investigation was a whitewash.

Lt. Gen. Robert E. Cushman emerged from a 40-minute session with the board Monday and left the Pentagon without talking to newsmen.

He is the highest-ranking officer to be called before the panel and, at the time of the incident more than 18 months ago, was commander of Army and Marine forces in the I Corps area of South Vietnam. Cushman now is deputy director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

The board, headed by Lt. Gen. William Peers, is attempting to determine why an Army investigation shortly after the incident was fruitless in light of recently published eyewitness accounts of killing of unarmed civilians in the village.

A Pentagon investigation of the incident a year later has resulted in charges against a lieutenant and a sergeant.

Gas As Fuel Would Boost Electric Rate

The conversion of Escanaba's municipal electric generating plant from coal to natural gas for fuel would be expensive to make and would result in higher electric rates to the consumer.

This information is supplied by City Manager George Harvey to the City Council in response to questions raised by Councilman Miles Dupie at the last meeting of the Council.

Dupie questioned whether the city might not save money by converting to natural gas and thus avoid costs for controlling air pollution.

Basically, the Council is advised by Harvey, there can be no complete conversion to natural gas because gas is an interruptible fuel and coal would always have to be available to keep the generating plant going when the gas supply is interrupted.

Therefore there can be no economy from use of gas because all of the air pollution controls necessary for coal operated generating plants would be needed, since coal would be needed also when the gas supply is low or is halted.

At the next Council meeting, said Harvey, he will have ready information to present on "what the increase would be in electrical bills for our 7,500 customers in the event we were to convert to gas."

Coal continues as the lowest cost fuel available, reports consulting engineers Black & Veatch and the city's superintendent of the electric utility, William Van Effen.

Van Effen also notes that the cost of converting the power plant boilers to use gas rather than coal as fuel, plus the cost of bringing the gas into the plant, would be an estimated $175,000. There would also be a loss in efficiency with gas as fuel, Black & Veatch has advised the city.

Air Freight Up

LANSING (AP) — Air freight shipments from Michigan airports have more than doubled in a six-year period, says the State Department of Commerce.

Commerce Director Richard Whitmer said the figures were 203.5 million pounds of cargo in 1968 compared to 73.6 million pounds in 1962.

Biggest increases in the period were at Detroit Metro, 71.9 million to 181.2 million; Kent County Airport at Grand Rapids, 2 million to 7.3 million; and Kalamazoo Municipal Airport, 733,000 pounds to nearly 4 million.

Doctor Named

LANSING (AP) — Dr. Roger L. Kuhlman of Grand Lodge has been named to the medical evaluation and advisory group of the Michigan Department of State.

Kuhlman, a practicing optometrist and officer of the Michigan Optometric Association, has served in an unofficial advisory role to the secretary of state's office on motorist vision problems for a number of years.

Abandoned Autos Pose Big Problem

NEW YORK (AP) — More than 50,000 cars were abandoned in New York City during 1969 and the Citizens Budget Commission has called it a "new growth industry."

The commission said Sunday that more efficient methods of removing the eyesores were needed. The Sanitation Department said it had already towed or carried off 55,926 cars this year and was doing the best it could.

The department defines an abandoned car as one that has no license plates, has been stripped of parts and "has all the earmarks of not being owned."

Meter Fund?

The City Council last week approved a study and review of Escanaba's parking meter ordinance to determine the feasibility of setting aside a percentage of meter revenues to assist in downtown redevelopment.

"The Council has always been interested in downtown development," said Councilman Robert Bink in suggesting the study. "I feel, however, that we should be interested in participating in the improvement of the downtown area on a concrete basis now, before we find ourselves taking drastic and expensive steps to revise this area and get these buildings back to proper tax base.

"Should we work to keep what we have, or should we wait, lose what we have, and try to lure new business in?" he asked.

Bink's parking meter approach is one which has been advocated by downtown owners and merchants for a long time. Most of the parking meter revenue comes from the central business district area, they argue, and consequently should be used to support the growth and development of the area.

The city presently receives about $30,000 annually from parking meter revenues. Under the current ordinance, after $10,000 is set aside as reserve, revenues go toward street improvement in the city. This could be changed to provide for some money for a downtown redevelopment fund.

In any dialogue on the subject, however, it should be pointed out that parking meters — despite the annoyance to shoppers — are beneficial to the merchants as they stand. Knowing that a meter is running tends to encourage shoppers make their purchases quickly, allowing circulation of parking spaces among more people. The meters also prevent all-day parking on the street, keeping the available places open for the shoppers.

It also should be pointed out that while earmarking of specific revenues for a specific purpose is not uncommon — the State of Michigan does it with gas and weight taxes for highway programs — that if the principal was applied uniformly to tax and other revenues the city's budgeting flexibility would be totally hamstrung. The electric utility, for example, produces a sizable profit for the city every year and yet there is no thought that all of that money should be poured back into the utility.

These are some of the things Council will have to consider along with the proposal.

And if Council is going to move to give specific financial encouragement to downtown redevelopment, is shouldn't limit its thinking to parking meter revenues. John Gannon, director of senior citizens Housing, pointed out the possibility of federal funds in an urban renewal program. This approach hasn't received much enthusiasm in the past, but it certainly might be considered again.

Whatever government effort — if any — directed toward downtown development must be a coordinated effort. If the intent of the Council is to encourage improvement in the downtown area, it might be well to keep a tight rein on the zoning ordinance. Traffic flow should be considered along with parking. And if a program is given approval, it must be with the full cooperation and coordination of merchant effort.

There is no question that a strong central business area contributes immeasurably to the general well being of the community.

But keeping the district healthy and progressive isn't a one-way street. All of the forces must pull in the same direction.

Political Outlook

President Nixon's chances of capturing control of Congress in 1970 are not particularly good if the trend established in recent special elections continues.

Out of the half dozen special elections held since November 1968 to fill vacant congressional seats, the Republican party has won only two — and the record is made even worse by the fact that most of these contests have been in normally Republican districts.

Notable losses include a Republican district in Wisconsin, vacated by Melvin Laird when President Nixon appointed him secretary of Defense, and a Republican district in Massachusetts which went to a left-wing Democrat who has been critical of the war in Vietnam.

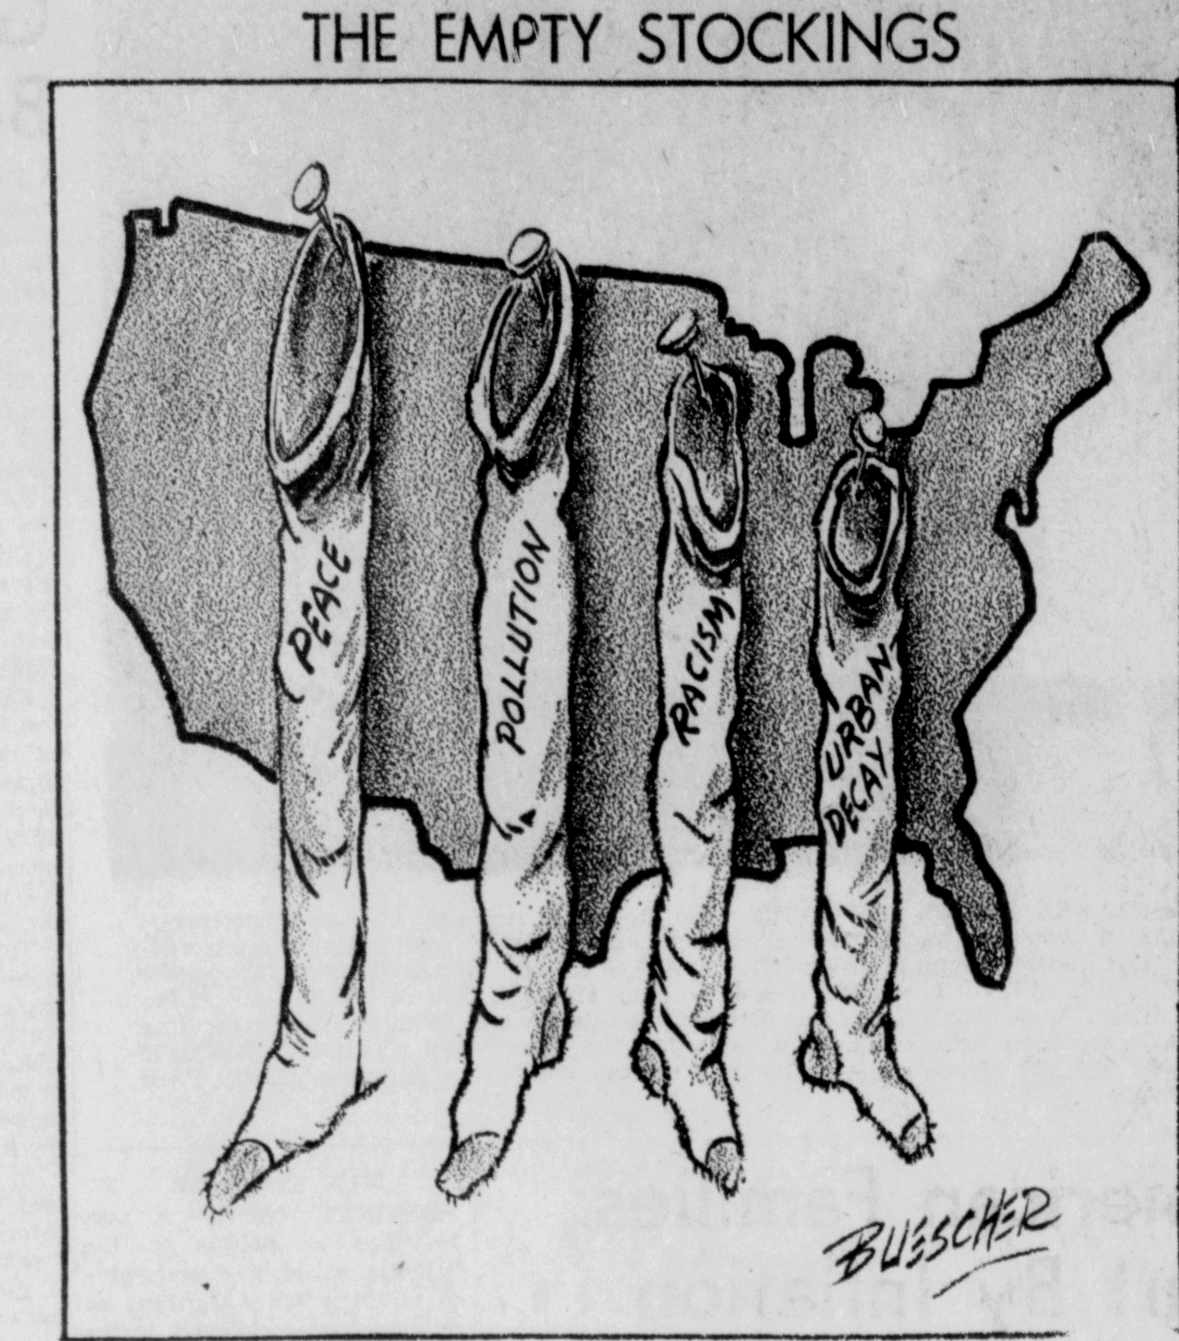

The two bright spots for the GOP, although they too occurred in normally Republican districts, were the victories of Barry Goldwater Jr. in suburban Los Angeles and of Dr. Philip M. Crane last month on the northside of Chicago.

This win-and-loss record, upon closer analysis, reveals an interesting pattern which political strategists of each party might ponder. The two GOP victories were scored by strong conservatives, while the Republican candidates who lost came from the party's moderate-to-liberal wing. The Democratic victors were equally strong liberals.

What this suggests is an increasing polarization of American politics. People discontented with the timeless drift of U. S. policy at home and abroad are willing to turn either to the right or the left in search of an alternative. In recent special elections, they have favored candidates, right or left, who speak out strongly and firmly as a matter of conviction as opposed to bland pragmatists and finger-in-the-wind politicians.

This polarity — and the amazing ability of a great many Americans to fluctuate between the two poles — was revealed in the last election by surveys indicating that a high percentage of the people who voted for Sen. Eugene McCarthy in the primaries ended up voting for George Wallace in the fall. Both seemed to offer a clear-cut alternative.

The lesson would seem to be clear for strategists of both parties. The Republican path leads right, the Democratic path left.

Is There Soviet Spy Riding In Pentagon?

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Radio Liberty's analysis of the Soviet Union's October Slogans is always revealing. By comparing the newest slogans with their predecessors, one gets a pretty good form chart of likely Communist behavior over the coming year. And usually there are revealing items to set our own counter-intelligence bloodhounds sniffing down some fruitful trails.

This year Radio Liberty thinks it curious that the Soviets have made a change in their disarmament slogan.

The last slogan called for "termination of the arms race," the "prohibition of nuclear weapons," and "general and complete disarmament." This time the Communists have called upon the "peoples of the world" to demand not only the elimination of nuclear arms but also "all kinds of . . . chemical and bacteriological weapons."

Radio Liberty's Christian Deuvel, commenting on the fact that the Soviets have mentioned germ warfare for the first time in a slogan, thinks it strange that the new demand "was put forward . . . less than 48 hours before unconfirmed press reports from Washington referred to a 'secret memorandum' said to have been submitted by Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird, proposing the termination of the production of biological weapons."

On the face of it, says Deuvel, it would seem that Moscow had its own information about the Laird memorandum well ahead of western news agencies. Deuvel does not allege that there is a Soviet "sleeper" in the Pentagon. But the hint is sufficiently broad. "If it is a pure coincidence," says Deuvel, "it is truly an odd one."

Some small changes in the slogans would seem to indicate that Moscow does not want to overextend itself in foreign adventuring in 1970. There is no slogan this year that is specifically addressed to the Soviet troops standing along the Chinese border. Radio Liberty surmises that this is a "gesture on the part of the Soviet leadership to show that Moscow would like to bury the border dispute."

On the other hand, a slogan calls on Soviet soldiers to be "always ready to repulse any aggression." In past years the Soviet troops have been exhorted to stand firm against "any aggression of the imperialists." By dropping the word "imperialists" Moscow admits that it has enemies in the socialist camp as well as in the capitalist. So the Chinese are being warned after all.

Switching to the Middle East, the slogans indicate that Moscow is trying to keep some sort of leash on the Arabs. Previous slogans had rung the changes on "the encroachments of imperialism" — meaning the United States — in the Middle East.

This year there is no reference to imperialistic encroachments on the part of the West. All that the Soviets are now asking for is "termination of the aggression of Israel in the Middle East" and "the immediate withdrawal of Israeli troops from the occupied Arab territories."

Says Radio Liberty: "Insofar as this may be viewed as a softening of the Soviet slogan, it is noteworthy that this has occurred in the face of an Israeli position which has not budged and of Four Power talks which have produced no results acceptable to Moscow's client states in the Arab world."

Another slight indication that the Soviets are drawing in their horns is the absence of any slogan hailing a collective security system for Asia. Last spring Brezhnev was proposing such a system.

Radio Liberty deduces that the response of the Asiatic countries to Brezhnev's call "was by and large disappointing." With or without Asiatic allies, however, Moscow is still telling the Americans that they are "aggressors" in Southeast Asia. This year the slogan calls for "the full and unconditional withdrawal of all troops of the U.S.A. and its satellites from South Vietnam!"

As for the domestic slogans, the new ones de-emphasize the importance of the Soviet working class and make the deferences to the intelligentsia sound less discriminatory. It is not that the Communists are relenting in their war on intellectuals who flout the party line. What the Communists are trying to do is to give greater emphasis to the "unity" theme. They do this by ceasing to favor any one group — such as the "heroic working class" — in the Soviet Union. The "socio-political unity of society" is now supposed to include everybody, the intelligentsia and the peasantry as well as the city worker.

What all this would seem to add up to for the U.S. in early 1970 is less trouble with the Soviets in Europe and the Mediterranean, but no help at all from Moscow at the Paris Vietnam Peace Talks.

Salesman Says Vince Ruining His Career

By KEN HARNETT

WASHINGTON (AP) — The salesman with the gin-weary eyes picked with a pink finger at the olive at the bottom of his glass. Now the pain that was gnawing at his heart came pouring out.

"Vince Lombardi," he said, "is ruining my life."

The salesman hunched his frame forward in his bar stool and ordered his third martini—a double.

"Do you know there's a recession in this country? Well, I do. You should go around with me and see for yourself. Nobody's buying. I'm telling you. Nobody. You know I've been in this business for 15 years and this is the worst year since I started. The worst."

"Well, what does that have to do with Vince Lombardi?"

"Nothing—nothing at all, except he may cost me my job."

Tears were beginning to form in the salesman's eyes. "If only he'd have a losing season everything would be all right. I tell you I pray he has a losing season. I get down on my knees and pray."

"And I'm not even a football fan. I don't know a Washington Redskins from a bluebird. But my boss, he's a football nut. Fo him, Lombardi is the most important man in America, bigger than even Agnew."

"So for the last three months, my sales have been going down. Some days I can't give the stuff away. So what happens. My boss calls a meeting and he says starting next month, we're going to raise our prices 25 per cent."

"I told him he couldn't be serious. But he couldn't be more serious, if he were Lombardi himself. He says everybody has to come in 45 minutes early the next day to see the movie about how Coach Lombardi shows this losing salesman how he can be a winner with second effort."

"Well, I wouldn't mind except I've already sat through that movie 12 times—once a month for the last year and I know it by heart. And sure, it's inspirational but I tell you I sure would like to see Lombardi try to sell my customers. I'll give him 15 efforts."

"You don't think I know the stuff he's talking about. How the heck do you think I bought a $35,000 house. I got two cars. My wife wears a mink all winter except when she's in Nassau. You think I don't know how to motivate myself?"

He took one last swig from his glass, then lurched toward the door. He turned round before disappearing into the night and said:

"One losing season—just one. And maybe there won't be any more Lombardi movies."

Opening lead—two of spades.

How should declarer play this hand? When he counts his losers he sees that he must lose a spade trick, come what may. He doesn't know how he stands in hearts, since he may lose one or two trump tricks, possibly none, depending on how the missing cards are divided.

He has no club losers, since he can presumably ruff two clubs in dummy, but he does have a diamond loser to contend with.

South's best line of play is to win East's queen of spades with the ace and immediately return a spade.

The chief reason for this is that it may be possible to eventually establish either one or two good spade tricks in dummy—and this will almost surely prove helpful later on, even if it turns out that he must lose two trump tricks.

East wins the spade return at trick two and leads back a diamond. South hopefully plays the queen, but West covers with the king and dummy takes the ace.

A spade is now led, East showing out as declarer ruffs. After playing a club to the king, South ruffs dummy's fourth spade, finally establishing the ten as a trick.

The hand is now shaping up nicely, and, barring a 4-0 trump break, the contract is in the bag. South leads the ace of hearts, then cashes the ace of clubs and ruffs a club in dummy.

He now discards the nine of diamonds on the spade ten. West, who still has the K-J of hearts, can score only these two tricks and South makes exactly four hearts.

The long-term view, taken at the start of the hand—that an extra spade trick might eventually come home to roost—pays off at the end.

Reuther Writing Christmas Notes To Economists

DETROIT (AP) — United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther is writing 15,000 Christmas notes to economists asking them to stop using an expression he finds particularly vexing: "wage-price spiral."

The letters are intended for economists who will be attending or closely watching the Dec. 28-30 conference of the American Economic Association in New York.

Reuther said he's enclosing charts and other materials which, he said, show "beyond all possibility of doubt that in each of the last three inflationary periods—including the current one—price increases preceded increases in labor costs."

Reuther told the economists they have an ethical responsibility "to correct a widespread misconception about economic facts."

What Reuther is fighting is the allegation that increases in wages for the labor market drives prices up. Reuther says it works the other way: prices go up and then labor is forced to ask for more pay to keep pace.

Ann Landers

There Are Two Sides To Abortion Hassle

Dear Ann Landers: I was shocked by your seeming approval of legal abortions. Have you taken leave of your senses? Don't you realize millions of people look to you for moral guidance? Our priest has, on occasion, used your column as a basis for his sermons. I am happy he was in Rome when that particular column appeared. He would have been very disappointed.

These are trying times in which to keep one's values straight. People need something to cling to. You have always been a staunch supporter of old-fashioned morality. What happened? Please don't shake our faith by coming out for something that is against our religion. There are over 46 million Catholics in this country and we believe abortion is murder. We count on you. Don't let us down. — A Mother In Massachusetts

Dear Mother: I would not recommend abortion for a devout Catholic — or for that matter, anyone whose religion teaches that abortion is murder. For women who believe this, the guilt resulting from an abortion could produce serious emotional problems.

As many Catholic theologians agree, religious law should not be the basis for civil law. There are millions of women who do not view abortion as murder and these women should not be subjected to backroom, kitchen-table butchery. Thousands of married women as well as single girls die every year because the law has driven them to attic hideouts and motel room surgery.

I hope you will read the next letter. It represents another point of view:

Dear Ann Landers: I'm glad you had the courage to come out and say the abortion laws are unjust, archaic and should be sharply amended. I had an abortion two days ago so I speak from experience. Fortunately I live in Kansas where therapeutic abortions are legal. In this state, if two physicians sign a statement saying the birth of a child would be detrimental to a woman's physical or mental health, she can be aborted in a hospital. The price is $500. It is painless and safe.

Many of your readers will probably wonder about the details of my particular case — whether I am married or single, a teen-ager or a career girl. Was the father of my child a married man or a lover who would have married me had I been willing? The details, I believe are irrelevant. What matters is that I was able legally and safely to terminate an unwanted pregnancy. Every woman should have this choice, and it shouldn't cost $500. — Lawrence, Kansas

Dear Lawrence: Hooray for Kansas! And you can add Colorado and a few others. At this writing, at least a dozen states are in the process of trying to liberalize their laws on abortion and I say the revision is long overdue. I believe that no woman, married or single, should be forced by the government to have a child she does not want if her physician decides he can safely terminate the pregnancy.

I want to make it clear that I am not encouraging illegal abortion. What is needed is reform of existing laws. I support the conclusion of the Group For Advancement of Psychiatry that abortion, when performed by a licensed physician should be entirely removed from the domain of criminal law.

Christmas can be a problem. What can you give the person who has everything? Ann Landers' new book, "Truth Is Stranger," is available in book stores. It can also be obtained by writing Prentice Hall, Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey. Price, $4.95.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

School Bells Are Calling:

More Than 5,000 Return To Classes

BY STEVE STOREY Community School
Program Director

The time is long past when we can afford to think in terms of terminal education, for education should not stop at a certain point in life or be limited to youth.

Now all across the Upper Peninsula the school bells are calling and more than 5,000 adults are responding to the challenge of the Community School concept, which envisions educational opportunities made available to all ages at all times, regardless of educational, cultural or religious backgrounds.

Schools exist to serve people, we believe, and therefore the school should be made available to all of the people with programs and activities that interest them.

Escanaba Area

Among the more than 5,000 enrolled in the U.P. are some 469 adults who attend classes through the Community School Program of the Escanaba Area Public Schools.

Of this 469 total, 25 students have enrolled in two Adult Basic Education classes. This adult program offers pre-high school classes which provide training in reading, writing and basic arithmetic skills to any adult who needs a refresher course to upgrade his skills, or any adult who feels a need to better himself educationally.

Classes are organized for non-readers as well as the person whose ability has been slowed because they missed out on one or more of the keys to being a good reader.

Adults enrolled in the Adult High School Completion Program numbered 201. This program is designed to assist the adult who has decided to finish his high school diploma. High school diplomas are granted by the school district to those who complete the requirements for graduation.

Numbers Growing

Two hundred and forty three persons are enrolled in the Adult Enrichment classes. These are short term classes meant to provide new skills and knowledge or perhaps to stimulate a new interest or hobby. Adult Enrichment classes may range from stocks and bonds, sewing, bridge, and art to comparative religion or a class for expectant parents.

Escanaba area is one of the 13 centers now established in the U.P. where the Community School philosophy is put into practice, bringing public school buildings use well beyond the traditional school day from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The Community School concepts strive to build a better community for all residents through programs of an educational, recreational and cultural nature by making full use of local community resources.

The participation has grown steadily since the first center was established in 1964 in the U.P. This year's fall registration efforts saw 5,566 adults return to their local community school. Over 3,500 enrolled to pursue a hobby, obtain a new skill, or perhaps to enjoy a night's recreation.

Ages 16 to 70

The door of opportunity opened in another way for 2,000 additional adults. Courses to fulfill high school graduation requirements are being attended by 1,882 men and women, ranging in age from 16 to 70. Previous educational background serves no barrier as classes in the basics of reading, writing and arithmetic are also offered.

Some 160 are discovering new found abilities in the program of adult basic education.

All 5,566 attend voluntarily. The State of Michigan provides the financial support for the latter programs, while local citizens pay for the enrichment classes themselves through small tuition fees.

The bells toll, yet many go unaware of the opportunity. The 1960 census reveals 100,000 adults, age 25 years or older in the U.P. have not completed high school. That's 62%! Of these, over 30,000 left with less than an eighth grade education.

It will take more hands and more effort to reach them. There is still a long way to go, but the community schools are moving in the right direction.

Michigan Bell Co. Issuing Rebates For Non-Service

DETROIT (AP) — Commenting on a suit asking for rebates to customers, a Michigan Bell Telephone Co., official reported today that it has been initiating rebates even though it is not obligated to do so.

"We try to be reasonable in out-of-service cases," said Donald J. Gillard, assistant vice president of Michigan Bell. "Although we are not obligated under our state tariffs to initiate rebates to customers, our practice is to make adjustments when we know a customer has been out of service for about 24 hours either through our own reports or as a result of notification by customers."

"For example, during the past four months we have made over 16,000 such adjustments," he said.

Escanaba Low In Air Freight

Escanaba Municipal Airport had the lowest percentage air freight increase in the Upper Peninsula in the period between 1962 and 1969, it is reported by the Michigan Department of Commerce.

In that period Escanaba increased 137 per cent, Marquette 224, Iron Mountain 377, Soo 398, Menominee 425, Hancock 749, and Ironwood had the highest with 876 per cent.

In volume of air freight, however, Ironwood was below Escanaba — but Escanaba was below all the others in the U.P. Escanaba's gain in pounds was from 40,225 in 1962 to 95,369 in 1968, the report shows.

Menominee is the leader in volume of air freight, with the total in pounds increasing from 48,948 in 1962 to 257,214 in 1968.

State Commerce Director Richard E. Whitmer said 203.5 million pounds of cargo were shipped from 21 Michigan airports during 1968 compared to 78.6 million pounds in 1962.

Biggest increases in air freight shipments in the state were recorded at Detroit, Grand Rapids and Kalamazoo.

At Detroit Metro, air freight shipments increased from 71.9 million pounds in 1962 to 181.2 million pounds in 1968.

Wildcats Keep No. 1 Ranking

By The Associated Press

Kentucky's explosive Wildcats, who stretched their unbeaten string to six games last weekend by thrashing ever-dangerous Duke, remain firmly entrenched as the nation's No. 1 major college basketball power.

The Wildcats, who pounded Navy 73-59 and Duke 99-76 to win their own invitation tournament, picked up 27 of 31 first-place votes in the weekly Associated Press poll of sports writers and sportscasters for a clear-cut margin over runner-up UCLA.

Kentucky totaled 612 points to 548 for the 4-0 Bruins, who received the remaining four first-place ballots. A week ago, Adolph Rupp's team had 22 firsts, to seven for UCLA, two for New Mexico State and one for Louisville.

New Mexico State, third last week, was upended by Baylor 87-73 after eight consecutive victories and slipped to seventh position in today's poll.

Adderly Wants To Leave Pack

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Cornerback Herb Adderley, extremely disappointed over being passed over for the Pro Bowl football game, left town Sunday night, saying, "I have lost my desire to play for Green Bay."

"I don't want to come back," Adderley said. "I can't come back and perform 100 per cent and then get a slap in the face at the end of the year."

"This year, without a doubt, has been my best year," the nine-year Packer veteran said. "However, playing my heart out didn't get me any acknowledgement from my own coaching staff."

Adderley, named to The Associated Press All-National Football League team last week, left Green Bay for his home in Philadelphia, shortly after the Packers defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 45-28.

West Continues To Pace Scorers

NEW YORK (AP) — Jerry West of the Los Angeles Lakers continues to set the scoring pace in the National Basketball Association with a 30.1 average per game, but Billy Cunningham of Philadelphia and Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati are bearing down in an effort to catch him.

Cunningham remained in second place with a 27.3 average on the merits of 35-point bursts at San Francisco and Seattle, according to the weekly NBA statistics released today. Robertson was right behind him at 26.5.

San Francisco's Nate Thurmond held onto his lead in rebounding with an 18.2 average and Milwaukee's Flynn Robinson was still in front in free throws, shooting at an .898 percentage. Lenny Wilkens, the Seattle player-coach, was still best in assists with a 9.7 average.

Dick Snyder, a Seattle guard who is making his fourth year in the NBA his finest, grabbed the lead in field goal percentage from Baltimore's Wes Unseld. Snyder clicked on 19 of 32 attempts last week for a .546 percentage. Unseld's percentage through games of last Sunday was .545.

Horn Wins Weekly Award After Sunday's Big Day

NEW YORK (AP) — Don Horn's five-touchdown performance for Green Bay is being hailed as the beginning of a new era in Packerland where Bart Starr has ruled for many years.

Horn, the youngster who took over when an injury drove Starr to the sidelines in the final stages of the season, helped the Packers close out their season with a 45-28 victory over St. Louis.

The third-year man from San Diego State tied one club record and broke another with his five touchdown passes and his 410 yards on 22 completions in 33 attempts. He also earned Associated Press recognition as offensive player of the week in the National Football League.

He broke the yardage mark of 335 set by Tobin Rote in 1951. The touchdowns matched Cecil Isbell's game in 1942.

"I had been throwing off balance," Horn told staffer Bob Greene. "I was trying a new way of dropping back and getting set. Lucky for me and lucky for us, it worked."

South Carolina, which won twice for a 6-1 mark, climbed from fifth to third and North Carolina, 5-1 after two victories last week, jumped from seventh to fourth, replacing Davidson, ambushed by St. John's, N.Y., 74-62.

Ohio University, 8-0 and a killer of Big Ten clubs, beat Indiana 89-83 for the first of its three victories last week and vaulted from No. 10 to No. 5.

Tennessee, perfect through six starts, went from No. 8 to No. 6 and Houston, 8-0 following a 77-73 conquest of powerful Southern California, made the biggest gain—from 19th to eighth.

Davidson, 3-1, fell to No. 9 and Washington, 6-0, vaulted from 20th to 10th.

Notre Dame, beaten by Kansas 75-63, spun from sixth place to the head of the Second Ten and there were wholesale changes the rest of the way down the line.

Southern Cal advanced one notch to 12th despite its second setback and Jacksonville went from 18th to 13th. Louisville held 14th, followed by Illinois, Kansas, Pennsylvania, Purdue, St. Bonaventure and Villanova.

The Illini were unranked a week ago, as were Kansas, Penn and the Bonnies.

Purdue tumbled from 12th to 18th and Villanova from ninth to 20th. Santa Clara, Colorado, Louisiana State and Marquette were bounced from the Top Twenty—the latter despite a victory over Bowling Green in its only start since the previous ballot.

Purdue bowed to Evansville, Villanova lost to Penn. and Santa Clara and Colorado were beaten twice.

Marichal Makes Quotes On Mays

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — A prominent Dominican sports writer asserted Tuesday that he had accurately quoted Juan Marichal as saying that San Francisco Giant star Willie Mays "is at the end of his career and that he ought to retire from baseball."

"He also told me that the attitude of Mays was damaging the spirit and enthusiasm of the rest of the Giants' players," wrote Alvaro Arvelo Jr. in his daily column in El Caribe.

Arvelo repeated his claim that Marichal had said that Mays looked for a way to avoid playing or to get out of a game when he was going to have to face a fast ball pitcher.

Michigan Drops 117-102 Decision

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Utah broke open a tight battle late in the first half and raced to a 117-102 basketball victory over Michigan Monday night.

Despite a 42-point performance by Rudy Tomjanovich, the Wolverines could not match Utah's pace in the second half.

With the score tied at 49, the Redskins spun off seven points in the last 44 seconds of the first half for a 56-50 lead at intermission.

Tomjanovich hit on 17 of 27 shots from the field and connected on eight of nine free throws.

Utah's attack was paced by Mike Newlin, who scored 32 points.

The victory hiked Utah's record to 7-2. Michigan now is 2-4.

Unbeaten Houston Cagers Win Ninth Straight Game

By The Associated Press

The unbeaten Houston Cougars, elevated from 19th to eighth in the national rankings, continued to amaze college basketball watchers with their ninth victory Monday night, a 76-69 decision over plucky Long Beach State.

But Louisville, which held on to 14th place in The Associated Press rankings released today, lost to Florida State 79-69.

In other games involving the top 20 teams, North Carolina, advanced from seventh to fourth, whipped Rice 99-87; Davidson, dropped from fourth to ninth, edged Georgia in a 74-72 nail biter; and Jacksonville, which climbed from 18th to 13th, coasted past Harvard 103-64.

Houston trailed the bigger 49ers 51-41 early in the second half, tied it 54-all with 11:22 left to play, and took command on Dwight Davis' three-point play with 5:13 remaining. Houston zoomed up in the rankings, based on last week's games, after beating powerful Southern California 77-73.

Houston hit an even 50 per cent of its field goal attempts while Long Beach made 28-of-64 for 43.8. The 49ers outrebounded the Cougars 42-31. Houston's Olie Taylor led all scorers with 25 points.

East Pro Bowl Team Selected

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sonny Jurgensen of Washington's Redskins and Bill Nelsen of the Cleveland Browns will direct the offense of the East for the 20th annual National Football League Pro Bowl game Jan. 18.

Nelsen will be returning to the Los Angeles Coliseum turf where he played for the University of Southern California Trojans.

A 34-man East squad was named by NFL coaches and includes two players making their seventh appearance in the all-star affair — defensive tackle Bob Lilly of the Dallas Cowboys and defensive back Larry Wilson of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Rookies selected were running backs Calvin Hill of Dallas and Larry Brown of Washington, defensive tackle Joe Greene of Pittsburgh and placekicker Tom Dempsey of New Orleans.

Dallas and Cleveland, who meet for the Eastern title on Sunday, each placed eight players on the Pro Bowl squad.

The East trails the West 12-7 in the series and hasn't won since Jim Brown paced a 34-7 victory in 1966. Last year Roman Gabriel of the Rams sparked the West to a 10-7 triumph.

Wildcats Lose To Bison Five

FARGO, N. D. (AP) — North Dakota State University sank 57 per cent of its field goals to defeat Northern Michigan's basketball team 83-71 Monday night.

The Bison broke away from a 34-34 tie and had a 44-38 lead at intermission. Mike Kupchik, John Wojtak and Brad Klabo each tallied 15 points.

Ted Rose led the Wildcats, scoring 15 of his 19 points in the first half. George Barger scored 18.

Michigan Great Compares Teams

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Bennie Oosterbaan has seen a lot of Michigan football teams in his 43 years on the university's staff.

Included are three Rose Bowl victors and this season's team which meets Southern California in the big game New Year's Day.

Although offenses change over the years, Oosterbaan says this season's players are identical in character to members of past U-M champions.

"There isn't much difference when you're talking in terms of types of kids who win," said the 62-year-old Oosterbaan, chosen this 100th anniversary of college football as the greatest all-time Michigan player.

Good Character

"You always have to have players with enthusiasm, high morale, good character, leadership. . .," he said, continuing on with half a dozen more character traits.

"Michigan players had the same traits in 1947, in 1950 and, I'm sure if you ask Bump Elliott, in 1964. They have the same character traits this year."

U-M's 1947 team rolled over USC 49-0 in the 1948 Rose Bowl, its 1950 team was a 14-6 Rose Bowl winner over California, and the 1964 squad trounced Oregon State 34-7 in the New Year's classic.

Fritz Crisler was the coach of the 1947 team. Oosterbaan coached the 1950 squad, and Elliott directed the last Michigan Rose Bowl team. This year Bo Schembechler is the Wolverine coach.

Everything Alike

"Basically, everything this year is the same," Oosterbaan said while relaxing in the press lounge at U-M's hotel headquarters in Pasadena. He now directs alumni relations and handles all advertising for the department.

The Kentuckians hit 50 per cent from the field, compared to the Seminoles' 44, but Florida State's Dave Cowens controlled the boards with 21 rebounds.

Spartans Reach Tourney Finals

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan State rushed to a four-goal lead and then held off a rallying Michigan squad to take a 5-4 victory in the semifinals of the Big Ten Hockey Tournament Monday night.

Michigan State plays Wisconsin Tuesday night for the championship, while Michigan faces Minnesota for the consolation prize.

In a consolation semifinal Monday, Mike Kurtz and Mike Antonovich scored two goals each as Minnesota blanked Ohio State 4-0.

Michigan State got two goals in the first period and the first three early in the second to lead momentarily 5-1, before the Wolverines came back with two goals in that period and one in the final stanza.

Don Thompson scored two Spartan goals with teammates Bill Watt, Bob Pattullo and Gordon Sokoll accounting for the others. Mickey Shaw and Dave Perrin each made two goals for the losers.

MSU goalie Duffett had 36 saves, while Karl Bagnell had 35 for Michigan.

Minnesota scored two goals in both of the last two periods, with Kurtz making the first and last. Antonovich also got two assists.

Bill Bidon had 19 saves for Minnesota, and goalie Bill McKenzie 41 saves for Ohio State.

IN RECOGNITION OF 45 years and seven months faithful and conscientious service to the people and the City of Gladstone, H. J. Henrikson, retiring city manager, was presented with a certificate of appreciation at the Monday night meeting of the City Commission. Mayor Arne Anderson (left) makes the presentation to Henrikson, who will retire on December 31. (Daily Press Photo)

City Ready To Build Armory

H. J. Henrikson, in one of his last official acts as city manager, assured Gen. Niefert and Col. Phillips, National Guard officers, that Gladstone was ready and happy to assume its share in the construction of an armory in the city. Henrikson will retire Dec. 31 after 46 years of service with the City of Gladstone.

The officers spoke to the Commission at its regular meeting Monday night and told them federal funds in the amount of $283,000, and state funds in the amount of $150,000 were available for the proposed $500,000 armory. Plans have been made for a soil-boring operation to begin in two weeks. Col. Phillips said that Gladstone's share in the project is $67,000 and Mayor Arne Anderson said the city wished to make part of its payment in labor. The officers agreed to the construction of a parking area and utilities as a portion of Gladstone's obligation.

Gladstone Share
The remainder of Gladstone's share will be deposited in the state treasury along with federal and state funds before construction begins. According to Col. Phillips, the armory will include 82,000 feet of drill floor space which could seat 1,200 persons or a regulation basketball game with 300 spectators.

Col. Phillips added that with the building cleared of vehicles, home furnishing shows might be held. Rental fees for the armory will be established by a special committee. Cpl. Donald Williams, Michigan State Police, Gladstone Post, asked for and was granted permission to land the State Police helicopter in the vacant area across from the post. Williams said a more permanent area near St. Francis Hospital had been obtained and the Gladstone site would only be used in an emergency.

A letter from the Department of Public Health regarding a certified operator for the filtration plant was read and placed on file. Martin Caldwell, water plant superintendent, is expected to qualify as plant operator after he receives the necessary experience under the eye of a qualified operator. Caldwell was presented with a check from the Water Pollution Control Federation in the amount of $181 for further schooling.

Appointees
The Commission approved the re-appointment of Tom Davis, Wilfred Lindberg, Cleve Krout and Oscar Ohman to 3-year terms on the City Planning Commission. Gerald Peltz was appointed to succeed Rev. Clifford Devore who recently resigned from the commission.

Two other appointments will be made to fill the vacancies of John DeMay and Ed Murphy. Other commission members are John Norton and Robert Sjoquist.

A petition to abandon the alley in the assessor's plat between Lake Shore Dr. and Minneapolis Ave. in the 1600 block was denied. Hendrikson said the alley could never be used as such, but may serve as a utility installation in the future.

Howard Keeton, who will be the new city manager, was appointed street administrator to work with the Highway Department.

The snowmobile ordinance was read and will be considered at a special meeting following a scheduled public hearing on Jan. 12.

Mayor Anderson appointed H. J. Henrikson, Oscar Ohman and Pike Johnson to a special board to hear information regarding burned-out city buildings. The board will also ask the city attorney to check the status of the Soo Line crossing behind the Stang Terminal to control time limitations of trains blocking traffic.

Oil Slicks Hit Scenic Coastline

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Globes of oil from a slick fed by undersea seepage washed onto about 10 miles of scenic coastline.

First reports listed about a half-dozen sea birds killed and more than 200 others floundering, helplessly, their feathers matted with the tar-like goo.

Volunteers manned a bird-cleaning station reactivated for the first time since an underwater oil blowout last winter in the same Santa Barbara Channel area spread a slick over 800 miles of the Pacific.

Geologists say the new slick was touched off after pumps at offshore oil drilling platforms were shut down from Tuesday to Saturday while workmen repaired a broken pipeline. Pressure apparently built up in the oil pools below the ocean floor, they said, causing oil to seep out of sea-bottom fissures considerably faster than the usual 250-gallon-a-day rate geologists estimate. Because of foggy weather there was no estimate of the size of the slick.

Union Oil Co. officials said Sunday that reactivation of their pumps Saturday apparently relieved the pressure and halted the heavy seepage.

Newspaper Want Ads are a big sell! One billion, twenty-one million was spent on classified ads last year . . . more than for all magazine advertising combined and more than 300 million more than radio advertising.

Quiet Community Fails To Hint Of Huge Underground Complex

By DAVE ANDREWS

WHITE PINE — The "city" of White Pine is marked with a single mercury vapor light on Highway M 64 in Western Ontonagon County.

A lonesome service station stands on one corner of the intersection, signalling the entrance into a small residential settlement west of the highway where about 260 homes are the only indication of activity.

There are no shopping centers and only a single building housing a restaurant, grocery store, bank, barber shop, gift shop, liquor store and banquet room. The town also has a fire station, motel, post office, a hospital and a K-12 school system to service the local residents. The only "tavern" is a private club operated by a veterans' organization.

But about one mile from the town and below the ground there is a thriving metropolis at work 24 hours a day where 1,500 of the 2,700 employees of the White Pine Copper Co. — most of them commuters — work in miles of tunnels and caverns to extract the tons of ore needed to produce some 154 million pounds of copper annually.

Network Of Tunnels

The mine is the second largest underground copper mine in the United States and it spreads through the intricate network of tunneled highways some three miles from the central entrance shaft. To an untrained visitor, it seems a person could wander for days without finding his way out.

The "single level" mine descends from the surface, following the ore body, to a great depth at present of about 1,800 feet. From there and at other points where mining operations are underway, ore is brought to the surface through a combination of heavy Wagner ore trucks and a conveyor system which winds over 10½ miles.

Miners make use of 53 of the trucks, each weighing 45 tons when loaded, to take the ore from the mining "face" to the conveyor dumping points spotted throughout the mine. Closed circuit television is used along with employees to monitor transfer points on the conveyor to guard against a piece of steel or jagged rock tearing the belt or jamming a pocket.

Continuous Operation

Mining is done on a "unit" concept with each of 15 units mining about 10 different ore faces at the same time.

The mining team includes blasters, roof bolters, drillers, truck drivers and loaders, each group moving from one face to the next in a continuous operation. As loaders, using a piece of machinery which at the front end looks a little like a common crab to gather ore for its conveyor "tail," work on one face, roof bolters are at work in an adjacent area. Drillers for blasting keep busy on a third face while the blasters powder previously drilled faces.

Charges in each of 42 holes drilled in a pattern on the mining face to produce the best result are detonated electrically

Buyer Sought

ELLSWORTH (AP) — One of the biggest employers in this Antrim County Community is up for sale and local groups are trying to find a buyer that will keep the business from closing.

Michigan Fruit Canners Inc. was put up for sale because of what was called a "decline in the vegetable packing industry."

The company employs about 160 people during the canning season with a year-round staff of 25. It accounted for $20,000 in local taxes this year.

LUNCH TIME finds miners at White Pine dining below the surface in lunch areas which at one time were mined.

at the end of the shift when there are no men in the mine. Each blast tears loose about 260 tons of ore, advancing the working face about eight feet.

Bolts Support Roof

The roof bolts — combined with large rectangular rock pillars left throughout the mining area — support the ceiling of the mine tunnels.

Holes are drilled into the roof, then the bolts inserted and tightened to "laminar" the rock into a "beam." The bolts have a type of expanding nut or anchor which increases in size as the bolt is tightened to hold the end of the 4 to 6 foot bolts tightly in the top end of the hole.

The mine is totally mechanized. None of the pick and shovel miners are around.

"A man couldn't produce enough ore with a pick and shovel to pay his salary," said Bill Christian, director of industrial and public relations.

Miners work 40-hour weeks, he explained, and there are four full shifts of men to keep the mine operating 24 hours a day, seven days a week. On the swing, men work the 3 p. m., shift for seven days, have two days off, then start a seven-day turn at 7 a. m., working another seven days. After one day off, they return for another seven day swing starting at 11 p. m.

Long Weekend

When they finish that turn, however, they get what amounts to be nearly six days off, Christian explained, leaving the mine at 7 a. m., on a Friday and not having to report again until 3 p. m., the following Wednesday.

To support the mining operation, the company maintains shop and central dispatch areas underground. The dispatcher has contact with all mining areas.

In the shops, employees are able to make most of the non-major repairs to keep the equipment running without bringing it to the surface. Tires are changed constantly on the huge ore trucks.

Training Unit

"We put on one new tire every third day, and two retreads every day," explained Ed Clements, supervisor of training. "They wear pretty fast on the sharp rocks."

Tires for the ore trucks are of two sizes, one size for the front and a larger size for the rear. Average cost exceeds $1,000 per tire.

To keep production units with a full contingent of miners, the company continually operates a training unit where new employees spend over a month under close supervision learning their jobs before being assigned to a regular crew.

Safety is stressed. This operation has an amazing safety record whose excellence is indicated by numerous awards from the U. S. Bureau of Mines and the National Safety Council.

A sign on an employee bulletin board said: "We give Gold Bond stamps to those with safe work performance." This is used as an additional incentive to promote the safety program.

The company is concerned also with the working environment and pours 1.6 million cubic feet of fresh air into the mine each minute. Underground, air doors and walls are used to channel the fresh air into specific areas of the mine. Annual physical examinations with chest X-rays are required for all underground employees to assure the efficiency of its environmental effect.
